Dear Anil,

Thank you for organizing the Democracy and Open Government Expo in Mumbai on November 7, 2010. Your CIGMA team did amazing things in a very short period of time. They transformed the canteen into a beautiful, thoughtfully-designed space that showcased the work of the government and NGOs clearly and effectively. Your team worked very harmoniously with U.S. Government staff to achieve a fantastic result that encouraged everyone associated with the event. Even small details were taken care of with great excellence—the lighting, the carpeting, the round table, refreshments, etc. The DVC with Ajmer panchayat was technically complex and challenging, yet your team also handled this aspect with great skill, working closely with NIC to achieve a great result.

Your work was complicated by the heavy security requirements, which you handled thoroughly and graciously. Even when your team had trouble entering the venue, you did not use that as an excuse—you still got all the work done in time, with high quality.

The President specifically mentioned this expo in his address to the Indian Parliament the next day. He left the exhibition deeply impressed by the work of the NGOs and the Government to empower ordinary people. We all heard the cheers of the NGOs and Government officials as he left the area. Everyone was so excited by the results—which you have helped us all achieve.

We wish you and your team continued success, and we look forward to working with you in the future.

With best regards,
